

Aster Colonial™

Why choose the Aster Colonial™ series?

Aster Colonial™ beams with color in your late-season perennial beds. Bred by Robert Herman, for exceptional cold hardiness, Colonial™ shines among the others in the New England landscape. With its late-season color, Colonial™ shines on as our summer favorites settle in for the winter. Three complimentary colors for a patriotic or memorial garden display.

Great cut flower!

Ideal for flower arrangements: long, upright & sturdy stems partner with ornamental grasses, in the garden as well as in a vase.

Pollinator Friendly

Attractive to pollinators especially butterflies and bumblebees. Seed heads are a much-appreciated food for birds, such as Goldfinches.

Grower's Choice

Brightly-colored flowers bloom late into the fall, as other perennials "go by".

Features

Daisy-like upright flowers are great for cut flower stems in bouquets.

Long blooming, from late – August into mid-October.

Vibrant color late in the season adds extended life to the garden

A native and non-invasive plant.

Classifications

Height: 36" -52"

Spacing: 3-5 feet

Spread: 3 feet

Bloom Time: Late summer through fall

Habit: Upright

Light: Sun

Hardiness: Zone 3-8

